

Lorna Evans

Tiga – Trade Association for UK Games Developers

Lorna brings 15 years experience, working in games, television and innovative technologies. She has extensive knowledge of the games industry, television and project management. She has worked on some of the UK largest games titles, 'Tomb Raider' and 'Resident Evil', launched Sky+ and brought Sponge Bob to the UK whilst at Nickelodeon.

The Tiga / NESTA project Lorna is working on will help the games industry find talented recruits, share personnel and facilitate job swaps between complementary industries, ie TV and Film.

Lorna is passionate about helping people with talent in the UK and giving young people the platform to shine.
