BIOGRAPHY

MR STEPHEN LUSTY

Stephen Lusty is a Engineering and Business leader with 25 senior experience across technology led industries. He started his career as a student apprentice with Harland and Wolff but moved into the hi-tech sector in 1986 when he joined Nortel Networks.

Over the next 18 years he held increasingly senior posts in Engineering, Operations, Sales and General Management in Europe, North America and Asia. From 2004-2007 Stephen was the Vice-President and General Manager of Flextronics Design Services in Europe and Asia before moving to Google where he was the European Operations Director.

Stephen left Google in Sept 2010 to follow his long standing ambition to build his own company and is Sales and Operations Director for Utility Exchange Online and Founder Director of a number of technology start ups that will be launched in 2011-2012.

He holds Engineering degrees from Ulster Polytechnic and Oxford University and is Fellow of the IET. He is an advisor to the University of Ulster, E-Synergy Venture Capital and Chair of the IET's Engineering Policy Committee.
